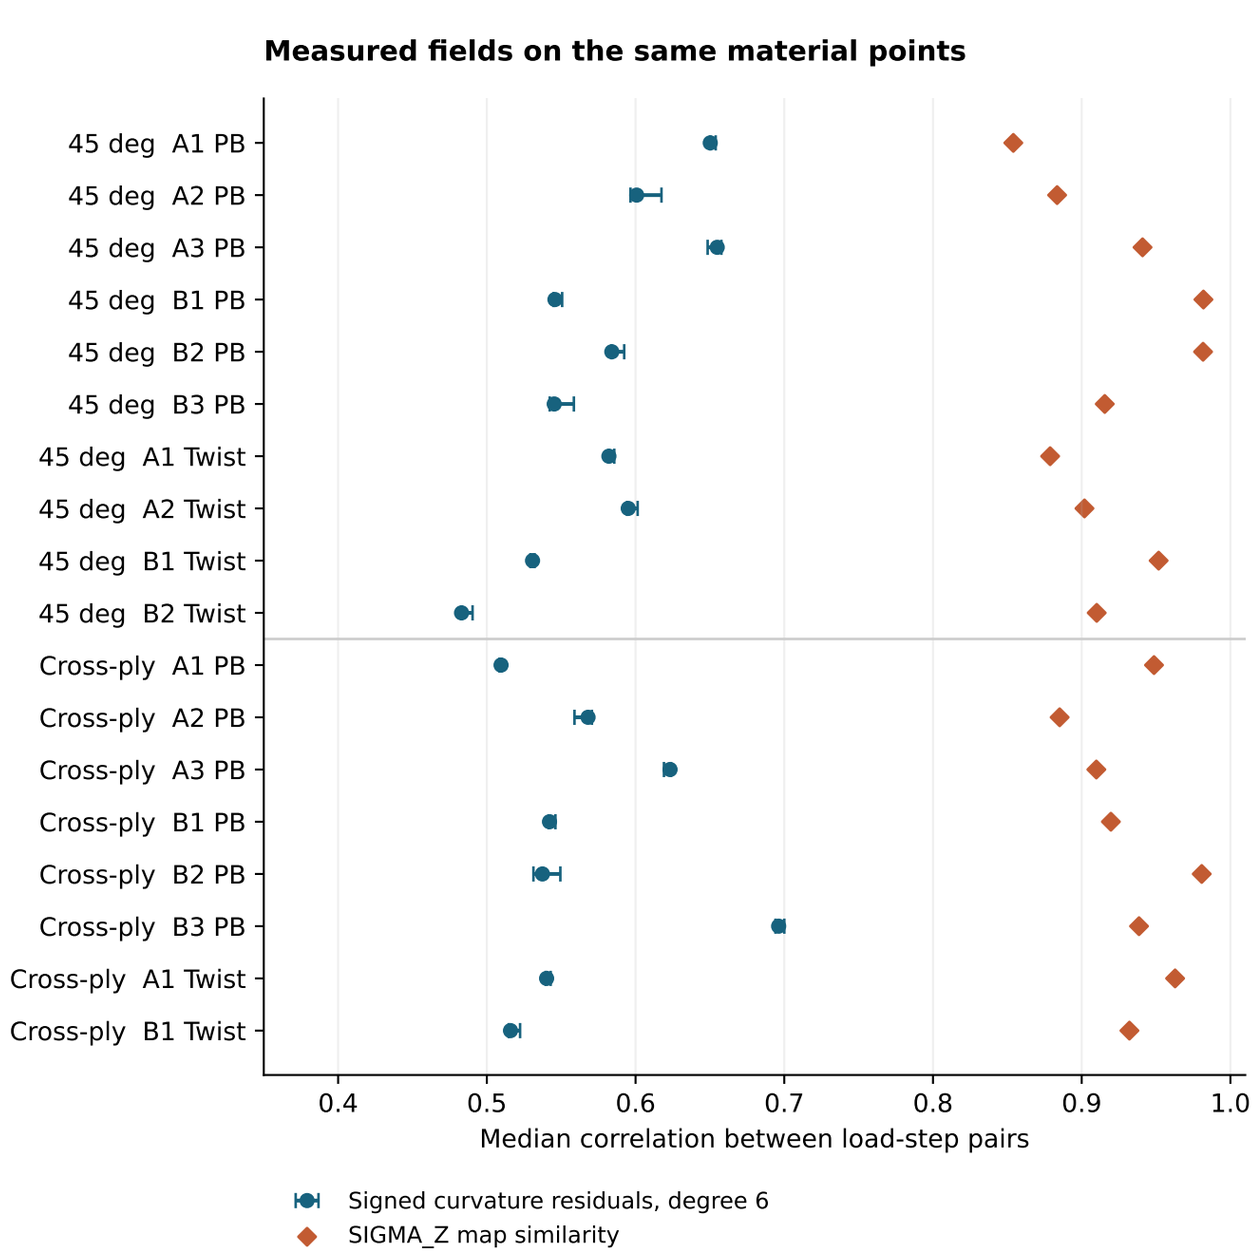
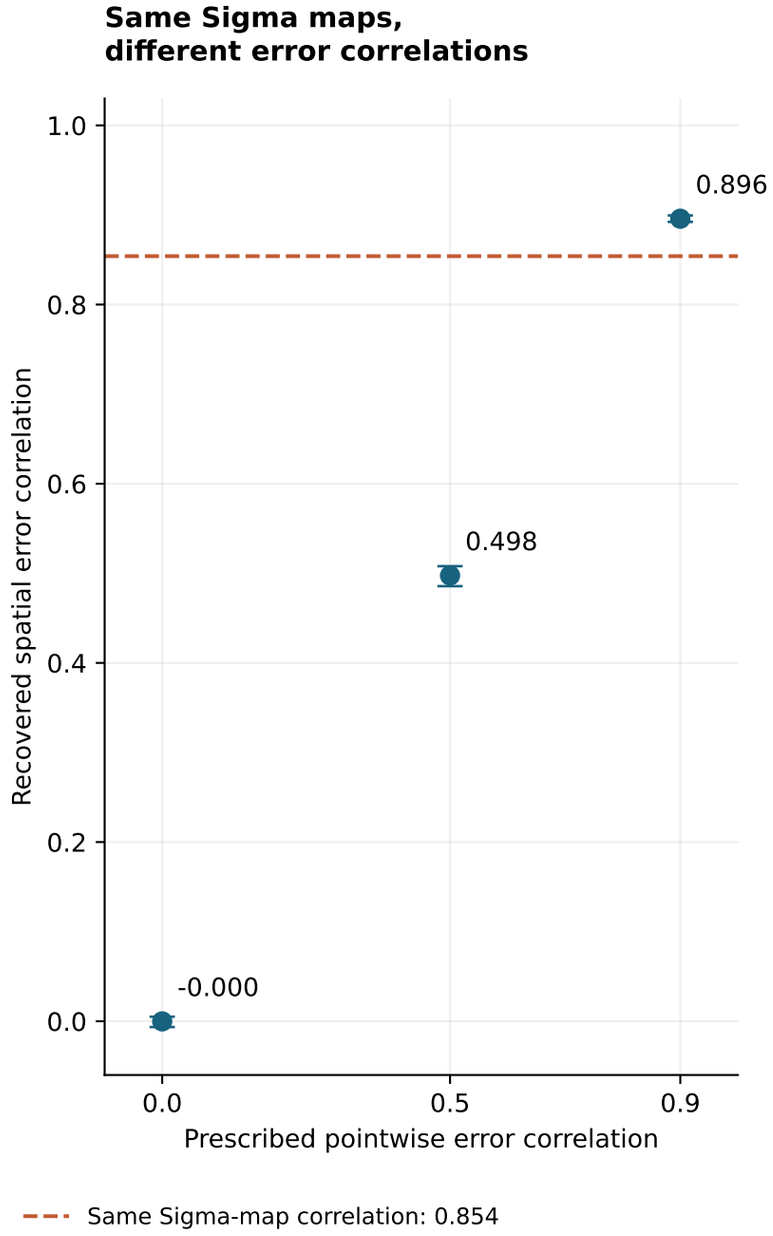
Sigma does not determine cross-step error correlation

18 experiments, 148 load-step fields. Curvature comparison uses the yy component.





Left: bars span polynomial degrees 4, 6, 8 and 10. Right: 200 simulations per setting using measured A1 PB Sigma maps. Simulation bars show the central 95% of runs; they are not confidence intervals for the experimental noise.